

Dear [insert name of publisher's rights manager],

I am a contributing author to one of your journals, and I am writing to ask permission to deposit a copy of the article(s) listed below in Scholar's Bank, the University of Oregon's institutional repository.

The article is:

[authors names] , [date], [title]

[journal name], [volume or number], [pages]

Scholar's Bank is an academic, not-for-profit resource created to preserve and provide access to research, scholarship, and creative works created by the university community for the benefit of University of Oregon students, faculty, staff, and the larger academic community. The submission will be made available using a Creative Commons "Attribution / Non-commercial / No derivative works" license, which means that the article cannot be used commercially or changed in any way, and any authorized use must be properly attributed. [Or fill in your license preference.] Full bibliographic details are given for each article, including the journal of original publication, etc.

This request is for non-exclusive, one-time, single-use permission for this purpose only. Copyright notice, citation of original publication data, DOI number (where applicable), and, if desired, a hotlink to your site will be listed.

I would be grateful if you could contact me to give your permission for including this article and to pass on any conditions that are associated. If it would be possible to use the published PDF version of the article for this purpose, then please confirm this.

Thank you for your attention, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
