

All law students are permitted to use their Bloomberg Law accounts during summer without restriction. Additionally, all law students' Bloomberg Law accounts will remain active for six months after graduation. Unlimited and unrestricted access provides law students with the unique opportunity to use their academic Bloomberg Law account while working this summer and/or after taking the bar exam. By researching and exploring the depth of Bloomberg Law content in a real world setting, law students will build their confidence not only in using Bloomberg Law, but also as developing attorneys.
